“ I've looked at this every day...you would think it would be easy to share a memory of your best friend of 30 years. However, there are just too many and it immediately brings me to tears. Like for instance- in the beginning when we were 4 maybe 5 years old...she beat the heck out of me, and we became inseparable ever since. We were glued to the hip! Even in our later and current years, we may not have seen each other every day, but we ALWAYS kept in contact and made it a point to still visit each other (I moved to a different neighborhood about an hour away). She just recently blessed me with the honor of being William's God Mother, which I wont let you down Schmoo! I have an awesome idea for your tattoo you would love it. I talk to you every day, I might just be talking to myself but it helps. I miss your voice, your laugh, your gorgeous smile. I love you so much Schmoo...there will NEVER be a single day that goes by that you are not on my mind.

This could be wishful thinking, but you always used to draw pictures in the snow for me. I saw this on my balcony yesterday

“ Danielle was the best of all of us at JC Penney. God she was amazing. Such a bright light. We were listening to the new RHCP song the day before this tragedy. She loved music - she was such a melody in our lives. She is loved and missed so much. God bless your family
