“ Eddie and Loretta, you and your family have my deepest sympathy. Maxine was a lovely lady. She took such good care of Charles' mother. She was in charging of caring for Norma and seeing that the other caregivers showed up for their shifts. I helped Charles mow his mom's yard from time to time. We shared the duties. Maxine came one day when I was riding the riding lawn mower, and Charles was sitting on the porch drinking tea. Maxine got quite a kick about teasing him for not being busy. God gave Maxine a long life. If he were here, Charles would also express his sympathy at your loss.

“ Maxine was one of my "church grandmas". She watched over me, gave me advice, prayed for me and encouraged me. She even cooked for me if I can count the many church fellowship dinners and women's prayer group gathering she brought dishes to. I may have even caused a wrinkle or two. I will ever be thankful that Maxine was a part of my life.
